Dear Effa:

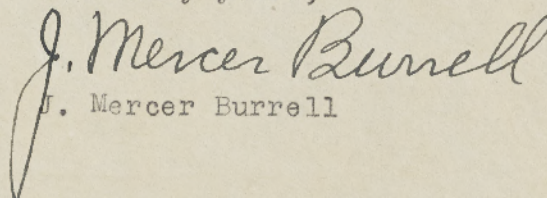

Many thanks for the donations for the Legion and the Elks. I am sure that you will receive personal acknowledgements from each organization.

Your problem is a very delicate one, and I think we should sit down calmly and discuss it in detail. I can name hundreds of people who wouldn't know the difference between "a foul ball" and "third base," but who come out to see the parade, the celebrities and to join in the excitement of opening day. The ceremonies could be moved up fifteen or twenty minutes, and perhaps the double-headers could be squeezed in without too much difficulty.

I am also interested in deciding what we shall finally do in reference to the Rickey-Chandler correspondence and publicity, particularly in view of the fact that both Newcomb and Campanella are apparently making good with Nashua.

I shall look forward to receiving a call from you this week for an appointment.

Sincerely yours,

J. Mercer Burrell
